GETTING TO THE CORE OF HIGH QUALITY MATHEMATICS!

YOU WON'T WANT TO MISS THIS!

JOIN US IN JUNCTION CITY ON OCTOBER 14, 2013 FOR THE KANSAS STATE MATHEMATICS CONFERENCE!

Take advantage of this professional development opportunity to sharpen your skills, gain new techniques, and learn from innovative practitioners and experts in the field.

Choose from more than 75 sessions, workshops, and conversations on such crucial issues as high quality instruction and coaching, formative assessment in the Common Core, reasoning and proof, response to intervention, deepening content knowledge, CCSS unit design, incorporating argumentation in the classroom, supporting new teachers, and much more!

Visit the following website to register!
https://sites.google.com/site/katmjunctioncity2013/

Participants: $50 each
Exhibitors: $150 each

Submit payment via PayPal! Please send any registration or payment questions to Angie McCune! Please contact Angie for information regarding paying with a check.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER – JENNY BAY-WILLIAMS

Jenny Bay-Williams is a professor of mathematics education at the University of Louisville (Kentucky). She is co-author of Teaching Student Centered Mathematics grade band books, 2nd edition (with LouAnn Lovin, Karen Karp and the late John Van de Walle) and Elementary and Middle School: Teaching Developmentally-8th and Professional Development Edition. She also writes the Field Experience Guide for this book. She has authored the new Mathematics Coaching: Resources and Tools for Coaches and Leaders, K-12 . In addition. she has coauthored other books, including: Developing Essential Understanding of Addition and Subtraction for Teaching Mathematics in Pre-K-Grade 2, Math and Literature: Grades 6-8, Math and Nonfiction: Grades 6-8, and Navigating through Connections in Grades 6-8.

Jenny will also be presenting K-2, 3-5 and 6-8 sessions!

Jenny sponsored by: Pearson Education

For more information go to:
Kansas Association of Teachers of Mathematics – http://www.katm.org

Contact:
Melisa Hancock,

KATM President
Email: melisa@ksu.edu