

McREL's Teacher Evaluation System ONLINE

McREL's new Teacher Evaluation System represents the next generation in performance evaluation.

Make teacher evaluation a strength in your schools

McREL's online tool and accompanying professional development helps districts cultivate high-performing school cultures that are completely aligned with professional teaching standards, goals, and priorities. With this powerful evaluation tool, teachers can complete their own self-assessments, and principals can

- Store, track, & organize teacher evaluations in one place
- Access the data anywhere, anytime
- Instantly submit required reports to district administrators
- Quickly create custom reports
- View the status of evaluations across the district

Do away with time-consuming and costly paperwork

McREL's Teacher Evaluation System is a standards-based, validated, professional teacher evaluation system that provides a road map for professional growth. It was developed by McREL in collaboration with the North Carolina State Board of Education and the North Carolina Professional Teaching Standards Commission in response to district requests for a valid and reliable online version of the teacher evaluation process.

With McREL's Teacher Evaluation System, you can

- ✓ Access evaluation forms from desktop, laptop, or netbook devices
- ✓ Aggregate data & customize reports by grade, subject, building, or district
- ✓ Export data for use in most databases (e.g., Excel, Access)
- ✓ Track teacher performance longitudinally
- ✓ See both principal & peer observations in one summary report

Even more features

- ✓ Log-in accounts & helpdesk (e-mail and phone support provided at no cost)
- ✓ Industry standards of data security, SIF compliant, HRMS compatible
- ✓ No new hardware required

Benefits of McREL's Teacher Evaluation System

Our system standardizes the evaluation process, provides opportunities for coaching and knowledge building, and helps talented teachers and education leaders realize their potential. With the online tool, principals and teachers alike can more easily prepare for an evaluation, principals can more effectively provide the kind of feedback that elicits better performance from teachers, and individual goals can be aligned with performance expectations. By helping to identify areas of needed professional development and by improving the communication between teachers and evaluators, the evaluation process becomes a positive force for change.

Professional Development

To ensure consistent implementation and fair application of the evaluation system, McREL requires a two-day professional development experience for IT and central office staff and for school administrators responsible for evaluating teachers.

Optional Services

In addition to the Teacher Evaluation System, McREL offers these fee-for-service options:

- Custom evaluation services, including validation of client-specific evaluation items
- Tailored professional development
- Expert advice from an experienced team of assessment professionals

Don't wait to transform your teacher evaluation process for the better!
