10 Mostly Instructional Practices To Improve Civic Engagement in Any Classroom

This list was created to answer a question from teachers and administrators about what they could do in their classes/schools to improve civic engagement. The following suggestions can be utilized in Math, Science, ELA, Art, Band, PE, Computer Education, Business, CTE, or any other classroom.

Practice | Explanation | Resources
---|---|---
#10 Make connections to the real world | Make it relevant! Whatever you teach to whomever you teach it, make a connection to what is going on in the world today. Have your class “spill over” into the real world and allow the real world to “spill over” into your class. | Why Teachers Need To Make Instruction Relevant
Short Article about Culturally Relevant Instruction
Blog Post by Sara Briggs On How to Make Instruction Relevant

#9 Use classroom discussion | Use moderated classroom discussion to talk about issues considered by students as important. Teach students how to respectfully disagree, give critical feedback, and understand the perspectives of others. Encourages students to sharpen their thinking and rhetorical skills. | Article from the University of Washington on How to Manage Discussion
10 Benefits of Discussion in the Classroom
Article on Effective Classroom Discussion

#8 Teach Reflection | Direct instruction and practice on the fixing of the mind on some subject and giving that subject deep and serious thought creates an opportunity for unique teacher student dialogue, improves self-awareness, openness, perspectives, and builds a community of learners | Blog Post by Joshua Block on Reflection
Chapter 12 Teaching on Reflection from Learning and Leading with Habits of Mind
Short Article on 15 Ways to Spark Reflection

#7 Demonstrate Enthusiasm and Passion | Enthusiasm is contagious. Use your passion to fuel theirs. Enlist the class in a school or community project you are passionate about. Have them join you as you make a difference. | Short Article on Enthusiastic and Passionate Teaching
5 Ways to show your passion for learning
Short Article about the Importance of Teacher Enthusiasm

---

The KSDE does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, disability or age in its programs and activities. The following person has been designated to handle inquiries regarding the non-discrimination policies: KSDE General Counsel, 900 SW Jackson Ave. Suite 102; Topeka, KS 66612
| #6 Student Choice | Give students choice. Where to sit, what kind of assignment, or assessment, perhaps even what to study. Choice empowers students. Students who feel like they can change the world will. | Short Article on Student Choice
Blog Post by Rebecca Alber on 5 Ways To Give Students More Choice
7 Ways to Hack Your Classroom to Include Student Choice |
| #5 Student Voice | Give students a say in the learning and living environment at school. Allow students to create tasks, rubrics, and/or classroom rules. Allow students to be heard and play an authentic role in governance and leadership in your classroom and in your school. | Short article on how Schools can Promote Student Voice
Blog Post by Bill Palmer on EDUTOPIA
Blog Post by John McCarthy on Establishing a Culture of Student Voice on EDUTOPIA |
| #4 Comfort the uncomfortable | Like enthusiasm compassion is also contagious. Students who are in need of comfort and receive it tend to return the favor. Students who witness it tend to imitate it. | Why Empathy in the Classroom is Vital and how to practice it
Blog Post by Joshua Block on EDUTOPIA
The Importance of Empathy by Jordan Catapano |
| #3 Make uncomfortable the comfortable | Challenge their thinking, perceived realities, prejudices, and biases. Don’t make it easy for confident/comfortable students to slide by. Force them to confront their values and real world problems. Create cognitive dissonance. | Article on Cognitive Dissonance
Article on How Cognitive Dissonance Creates Leaders
From Cognitive Dissonance to Self-Motivated Learning -- Hansen |
| #2 Be a Role Model | In order for your student’s to be civically engaged they need to see adults being civically engaged. Volunteer, support a cause, vote . . . Tell your kids when and what causes you volunteer for. Tell them when you vote, have jury duty, attend a meeting, read the news, or write your representative. “Be the change you want to see in your kids.” | 25 Ways Teachers Can Be Role Models
Lumpkin Article on Teacher Role Modeling
Lengthy Slide Share of why teachers are important role models |
| #1 Be a Mentor | A wise, trusted, influential counselor or supporter. Some kids need more help than others. You will impact their lives greatly and they yours. It will be your greatest and most rewarding contribution to civic engagement. | Great Article by Marilyn Price-Mitchell
Study on Mentoring High Risk Youth
Kansas Mentors Program Tips for Mentors |

Contact:
Don Gifford
Coordinator for Civic Engagement
Kansas State Department of Education
900 SW Jackson Ave.
Topeka, KS 66612
dgifford@ksde.org

Jessica Noble
Assistant Director for Civic Education
Kansas State Department of Education
900 SW Jackson Ave.
Topeka, KS 66612
jnoble@ksde.org

The KSDE does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, disability or age in its programs and activities. The following person has been designated to handle inquiries regarding the non-discrimination policies: KSDE General Counsel, 900 SW Jackson Ave. Suite 102; Topeka, KS 66612