The Kansas State Department of Education (KSDE) and the Kansas Association of Education Service Agencies (KAESA) are collaborating to bring the most innovative and updated information to our workshops.

We understand that the past two years have been difficult. We hear you, and we are here to meet you where you are to prepare for the upcoming school year with high-quality, evidence-based, ready-to-implement ideas for learning loss in your classroom.

Each workshop will focus on content-specific standards and innovative instructional practices to help with learning loss, including: high-leverage teaching practices, personalized learning, real-world application (competencies) and leading change.

Participants can choose one of the workshop tracks listed below for the entirety of the two days. This rigorous, evidence-based professional development is open to teachers and administrators of all levels.

Your workshop options will include:

- Administration/Leadership
- Career and Technical Education (CTE)
- Early Childhood
- English Learners
- English Language Arts
- Fine Arts
- Health Education
- History, Government, Social Studies
- Math
- Physical Education
- School Counseling
- Science
- Social Emotional
- World Languages

Come join your colleagues for fun, relaxation and learning as we continue to grow as educators!

Kansas leads the world in the success of each student.
