

Join us...

In exploring resources for creating online learning for Theatre education, resources for creating virtual performances, and lessons for developing and providing online learning.

As we know, each of us is experiencing new challenges to teaching and learning as we slowly move into our 2020-21 school year. This workshop will assist you in that transition. Through this three-hour session, you will be provided with examples for teaching Theatre in a hybrid or virtual fashion while still providing deep learning opportunities, curiosity, and exploration of ways for increasing student engagement for all.

The workshop will include:

- Tips for effective online teaching for theatre educators;
- Interactive online curriculum you can use today for in person, hybrid or virtual instruction; and
- An introduction to resources from the Educational Theatre Association to support virtual productions
