If you are involved in a crash and either the police are not called or they are unable to come to the scene due to adverse weather or peak traffic times, get this information from the other driver and exchange the same information about yourself. Also, be sure to get the names, addresses and phone numbers of any witnesses.

If you're involved in a crash:

- You are legally required to stop.
- Don't panic or lose your temper.
- If anyone is injured or killed, phone 911 or notify the nearest law enforcement agency.
- Render aid, but don't move a crash victim unless there is a life-threatening hazard.
- If safe to do so, and there are no injuries or deaths, vehicles which obstruct the regular flow of traffic should be removed from the highway.

- When vehicles cannot be moved, make sure you protect the scene while waiting with flares or raised hood.
- If you cannot get out of your vehicle safely, keep your seatbelt fastened, turn on hazard lights, and call 911.
- When one of the drivers is intoxicated, has no insurance, or leaves the scene of the crash, notify the police as soon as possible.

Know the Kansas Law:

If you're involved in a collision with no deaths or injuries and there is less than $1,000 total damage to the vehicles involved, it is not necessary to file a crash report with police. However, you are required to stop and exchange information with the other driver. (Use the back of this card.)

If you crash into an unattended vehicle or other object, you are required to find the owner or leave your information on a note that explains what happened.

Motorists are required to carry proof of insurance. If you cannot produce a current proof of insurance card, you may be issued a citation at the scene of a crash. Motorists are encouraged to carry their vehicle registration papers in the glove box.

Remember: Regular seat belt use is the single most effective way to prevent injuries and death in a motor vehicle crash.
