Definition of Bullying

- Section 1. K.S.A. 2007 Supp. 72-8256 is hereby amended to read as follows: 72-8256. (a) As used in this section:

Types of Bullying

- Verbal bullying: Verbal abuse is the most common form of bullying seen at school. It accounts for 70% of reported bullying and is often very difficult to detect. Verbal bullying occurs when someone uses language to gain power over his or her peers. Examples include name calling, teasing, taunting, threatening, cruel criticism, belittling, personal defamation, racist slurs, personal defamation, sexually suggestive and/or abusive remarks, and extortion (i.e. demanding lunch money via threats).
- Physical bullying: Physical bullying is the most visible and therefore identifiable form of bullying incidents reported by children. Physical bullying occurs when a person uses overt bodily acts to gain power over peers. Unlike other types of bullying in schools, physical bullying is easy to identify because the acts are so obvious. Physical bullies tend to demonstrate high levels of aggression from a young age, and are more likely to be boys. Examples include hitting, tripping, shoving, and slapping, punching, kicking, damaging or destroying personal property, hazing and/or biting.
- Relational bullying: Relational bullying is the systematic diminishment of a targeted child's sense of self through the following that could lead to rejection and/or alienation. Relational Aggression (R.A.) is a form of bullying common among tweens, and especially tween girls. The behavior describes an individual, or a group of individuals, who try to hurt a peer, or sacrifice another's standing within their peer group. Girls who exhibit Relational Aggression are sometimes referred to as Mean Girls.

Examples include ignoring, isolating, excluding, shunning (act of omission) and/or gossiping.

- Cyberbullying: "Cyberbullying" means bullying by use of any electronic communication device through means including, but not limited to, e-mail, instant messaging, text messages, blogs, mobile phones, pagers, online games and websites.

What Schools Can Do to Prevent Bullying<sup>1</sup>

- Assess bullying in your school. Determine where and when bullying occurs.
- Increase adult supervision in bullying "hot spots." Work with support staff, such as cafeteria staff, bus stop and playground monitors and bus drivers, who may observe bullying incidents that unfold outside the classroom.
- Involve students, parents, teachers, and staff in bullying prevention. Establish a school safety committee and task force with a coordinator whose job it is to plan, implement and evaluate your school's bullying prevention program.
- Encourage teachers and staff to file incident reports of bullying. Keep track of critical incidents, and assess and evaluate your bullying prevention program.
- Create policies and rules. Create a mission statement, code of conduct, and school-wide rules that establishes a climate in which bullying is not acceptable. Disseminate and communicate widely.
- Integrate bullying prevention material into curriculum and school activities. Implement curriculum-based, class-level discussions and activities about bullying (e.g., role-playing activities) at each grade level.
- Promote extracurricular activities. Reinforce positive social interactions in an inclusive environment.
- Raise awareness about your bullying prevention initiative. Launch an awareness campaign to make the objectives known to the school, parents, and community members.
- Establish a school culture of acceptance, tolerance and respect. Take advantage of staff meetings, assemblies, class and parent meetings, newsletters to families, the school website, and the student handbook.
