Legislative Process
Mark Tallman
• The Kansas state Board is elected which differs from other states
  o With access to hire/fire the Commissioner of Education
• Bills are to be law
• Resolutions are non-binding expressions of opinion
• How a bill becomes a law
  o Have to be introduced, signed by both houses, and then signed by the Governor
Process of a bill:
- Can be done by any legislator as either an individual or with several other legislators (Co-Sponsors), or by going to a committee and asking for them to introduce in the committee's name.
- Once introduced then it is referred to a committee.
- Committee's chair then decides if it will receive a hearing.
- If a hearing happens then the Chair will decide how the hearing operates and will determine if there will be a vote on the bill to either amend or recommend it.
- If voted to amend, it will be referred out of committee and to its first house. The house or senate will have the opportunity then to debate it, amend it, and then send it for final action.
- Once approved in one house it moves to the other and the process begins again.
- The governor is the last step to either pass or veto.

Rule of 5 subjects in a bill for the conference committee, however a bill is only supposed to have one subject.

Advocacy is convincing to have enough votes to go along with what you want or stop what you don't want.
- You want to influence their decisions it is good to know their beliefs and ideology.
- But remember it is difficult to change someone's mind.

Testimony:
- This is the formal way that legislators take and collect information.
- Few ways that a legislator will listen to someone who is not one of their own constituents.
- May not be able to change their minds but could change the Bill.

Previous Bills passed by Legislature

Kent Reed:
- This has been the most contentious legislative session in many years.
- Bill 2513:
  - Address surveys and has been rolled into Bill 2662.
  - This bill is a rehash of the Student Privacy Act that was passed several years ago.
  - This includes an amendment on the original Student Privacy Act, that amendment has been stricken from the current bill 2662.
  - This section should be replaced if they pass it and should read “This section shall not prohibit school counselors and or mental health professionals from providing counseling services to a student, including administration...”
    - Important because of screening.
