PROCEDURAL SAFEGUARDS TO PROTECT PARENT'S RIGHTS

Both state and federal laws concerning the education of children with exceptionalities include many parental rights. Receiving notices of action the school wants to take in regard to your child and being a part of your child's educational planning team are examples of your rights. These laws also require that the school follow certain procedures to make sure you know your rights and have an opportunity to exercise those rights. The school is required to give you a copy of the rights of a parent at least one time each school year. You received a copy of your rights when the initial referral for evaluation was made. You should carefully read them and, if you have any questions regarding your rights or if you wish to receive an additional copy of your rights, you may contact the special education director of the school or special education cooperative.
