Limiting Remote Learning 2022-2023 (FAQs)

KSDE has developed guidance called Remote Learning – Limiting it - FAQs – 2022-23 located on the KSDE Fiscal Auditing webpage found under the heading Audit Guides, which provides the answers to twenty-five frequently asked questions concerning Remote Learning and student attendance, quarantine, illness, local board approval, reporting requirements, the school term requirement and more. In addition, details such as funding and audit requirements related to Remote Learning can be found in the Enrollment Handbook on pages 29-31.

For 2022-23, districts are still required to track students participating in remote learning by using the Remote Learning Report. Boards of Education will need to continue approving students who exceed 40 hours of remote learning. Districts are required to complete and submit the Remote Learning Report to KSDE twice during 2022-23, once at the end of the first semester and once at the end of the second.
